

Paul Chaney's Critical Camping series Notes for Campers

2-3 July 2016

Critical Camps – Notes for Campers

You can sleep in the pavilion or bring your own tent. The pavilion has a small flat stage that will sleep six or seven people. The rest of the pavilion floor has a slight slope.

It is recommended that you do bring your own tent, so you have the flexibility to decide on the day.

People who don't have their own tent for whatever reason will have priority in the pavilion.

The area for tents will be about 100 meters from the pavilion. There will be a compost toilet, and during the day the toilet facilities in the gallery will be available for use.

A small fire will be lit and kept going all weekend for brewing tea and coffee.

Dinner:

We ask you to bring a favourite plate, bowl, mug and cutlery from home. But please do not bring heirloom china – we will be eating in a field!!

Do not worry if you cannot do this – we have paper plates etc.

Dinner will be cooked on the open fire. Participants may be asked to help with small tasks such as moving firewood, attending the fire, and helping with preparing the dinner.

For this Critical Camp we will be eating local line-caught fish. There will be a vegetarian option – please notify the gallery and state your choice.

Participants with other special dietary requirements – please contact the gallery and we will do our best to accommodate you.

Breakfast:

Breakfast will be made on the fire the following morning (local eggs and homebaked bread).

Items to bring:

Tent

Sleeping bag

Sleeping mat or camp bed

Torch

A change of warm clothes

Stout shoes or wellingtons (depending on the weather forecast)

Waterproof jacket

Your own snacks or other foods you require to make your own breakfast

SCYTHE WORKSHOP:

We recommend bringing suitable work clothes (jeans, t-shirt and strong shoes/boots, and gardening gloves if you really want to go for it!) for the scythe workshop.

Kestle Barton
Manaccan
Helston
Cornwall TR12 6HU

01326 231 811
info@kestlebarton.co.uk
www.kestlebarton.co.uk